In Class Seminar (10 marks)

Each team will work together to develop an “in class” seminar/event. Students must create an engaging experience, elaborating on the previous lesson by the professor. This requires the team to conduct secondary research on a topic taught the prior week that will demonstrate how the knowledge taught is applied in the field of events planning. While each team will present together, team members will be individually assessed.

Midterm Exam (10 marks)

Students will be evaluated individually with a written exam at the halfway point in the course to determine their comprehension of the material covered at that point in the course. Students must have greater than 50% average between the midterm and final to pass the course.

Students will be evaluated individually with a written exam during the final exam period which will be based on all learning topics presented during the course.

Team Project Structure

Cohort teams of students will be formed in 1st week of class. These teams will work together for the duration of the course for the team assignments and the development of the course deliverables. Any student that violates their respective Team Charter may be terminated from the team at the discretion of the professor. This will increase the available individual marks for the rest of the team. In such case, the student shall meet with the professor to determine the consequences of being terminated.

Attendance and Participation

Given the intensive nature of the course and the heavy group work. Attendance and engagement are key to being able to contribute to group work. Students who miss more than 2 classes will not be able to pass the course.

Notes*Class Participation Structure

Hour #1: Starting in week #3, each team will be assigned to present an in-class seminar to discuss the key concepts taught the prior week and demonstrate an application of the key learning from the prior week as applied to the event plans being developed for their client. The schedule will be determined on a random draw basis. Each team will prepare an entertaining in class presentation involving games, tests, quizzes, or other interactive means. Presentations will be limited to 60 minutes.

Hour #2: The topic for the week will be introduced and taught using a combination of theory and applied examples.

Hour #3: The last hour will be used for a discussion of the team's projects and an identification of common issues. Flash reports will be reviewed with each team. Project updates will be given by teams to the professor.

Required Texts/Resources

A comprehensive events management textbook is recommended but not required for this course. The text is Events Management by Bowdin, Allen, O'Toole, Harris and McDonnell 4th Ed. There are also proprietary PowerPoint slides developed for this course by the professor.

SKILLS ACROSS THE BUSINESS CURRICULUM

The Okanagan School of Business promotes core skills across the curriculum. These skills include reading, written and oral communications, computers, small business, and academic standards of ethics, honesty and integrity.

STUDENT CONDUCT AND ACADEMIC HONESTY

What is the Disruption of Instructional Activities?

At Okanagan College (OC), disruption of instructional activities includes student “conduct which interferes with examinations, lectures, seminars, tutorials, group meetings, other related activities, and with students using the study facilities of OC”, as well as conduct that leads to property damage, assault, discrimination, harassment and fraud. Penalties for disruption of instructional activities include a range of sanctions from a warning and/or a failing grade on an assignment, examination or course to suspension from OC.

What is Cheating?

“Cheating includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct during tests or examinations in which the use is made of books, notes, diagrams or other aids excluding those authorized by the examiner. It includes communicating with others for the purpose of obtaining information, copying from the work of others and purposely exposing or conveying information to other students who are taking the test or examination.”

Students must submit independently written work. Students may not write joint or collaborative assignments with other students unless the instructor approves it in advance as a group/team project. Students who share their work with other students are equally involved in cheating.

What is Plagiarism?

Plagiarism is defined as “the presentation of another person’s work or ideas without proper or complete acknowledgement.” It is the serious academic offence of reproducing someone else’s work, including words, ideas and media, without permission for course credit towards a certificate, diploma, degree and/or professional designation. The defining characteristic is that the work is not yours.

“Intentional plagiarism is the deliberate presentation of another’s work or ideas as one’s own.” Intentional plagiarism can be a copy of material from a journal article, a book chapter, data from the Internet, another student, work submitted for credit in another course or from other sources.

“Unintentional plagiarism is the inadvertent presentation of another’s work or ideas without proper acknowledgement because of poor or inadequate practices. Unintentional plagiarism is a failure of scholarship; intentional plagiarism is an act of deceit.”

What are the Students’ Responsibilities to Avoid Plagiarism?

Students have a responsibility to read the OC Plagiarism Policy and Procedures outlined in the OC calendar, which is available in online format www.okanagan.bc.ca. Students must acknowledge the sources of information used on all their assignments. This usually involves putting the authors’ name and the year of publication in parentheses after the sentence in which you used the material, then at the end of your paper, writing out the complete references in a Reference section.

“Students are responsible for learning and applying the proper scholarly practices for acknowledging the work and ideas of others. Students who are unsure of what constitutes plagiarism should refer to the UBC publication “Plagiarism Avoided; Taking Responsibility for your Work”. This guide is available in OC bookstores and libraries.

Students are expected to understand research and writing techniques and documentation styles. The Okanagan School of Business requires the use of the APA or MLA style, but suggests that students cite references using the APA guidelines (see Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th edition (2009)). A copy of the APA manual is available in the reference section and also available for circulation from OC libraries. The library website has access to these two major citing styles.

What are the Penalties for Plagiarism and Cheating?

The Okanagan School of Business does not tolerate plagiarism or cheating. All professors actively check for plagiarism and cheating and the Okanagan School of Business subscribes to an electronic plagiarism detection service. All incidents of plagiarism or cheating are reported and result in a formal letter of reprimand outlining the nature of the infraction, the evidence and the penalty. The Dean of the Okanagan School of Business and the Registrar record and monitor all instances of plagiarism and cheating. Penalties for plagiarism and cheating reflect the seriousness and circumstances of the offence and the range of penalties includes suspension from OC.
